

Thank you for purchasing an Enterprise Server Version

The following copyright notice supersedes the copyright notice on the copyright page of the text:

All rights reserved. No part of this CD may be reproduced or copied in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without written permission from DAMA International, except for appropriately attributed quotations and the following:

- Taking one backup copy in case of loss or damage of the CD
- Producing a printout for the sole purpose of the individual license holder
- Enterprise Server Version License Holders can printout and distribute individual chapters or subsections within the enterprise when said reproduction enables use of the material for internal data management activities, and subject to control of distribution of such material within the enterprise
- This Enterprise Server Version may be placed on one Intranet or otherwise secured server that restricts access to those authorized to work within the enterprise, subject to the limitations previously mentioned. This license cannot be transferred or resold for commercial purposes.

Please keep this letter with the original CD